

CEP SERIES: MISSIONAL LIVING

Missional living! The word "missional" just means that we live every day as missionaries in the areas in which we live, work and play. Jesus said that "as the Father has sent me, so I send you" (John 20:21). It simply means that we live as Jesus lived — as sent people who live every day with gospel intentionality.

Living missionally is a lifestyle, it is living as a sent one, working as a sent one, parenting as a sent one, playing as a sent one, for the sake of God's glory and the salvation of the lost, across the street and around the world.

If you think about it, it is a privilege and honour that our KING gave us this ministry of reconciliation! It is not a chore or duty, and we GO for Christ because of His unending love and abundant grace bestowed upon us when we did not deserve anything.

David Livingston, a Scottish medical missionary to Africa, said: "If a commission by an earthly king is considered an honour, how can a commission by a Heavenly King be considered a sacrifice?" How wonderful it is to be part of this gospel work not just overseas, but also in Singapore and your community.

How could we be missional where we live, work and play? These three words have helped me a lot: PLAY, PRAY and SAY

PLAY: The goal is to build relationships with people around you. You can be intentional in many ways — such as learning more about your colleague as you share a meal, inviting your neighbour's child over for play time, and joining in with events in your community.

PRAY: The goal is to pray intentionally for the person you are engaging with. Salvation belongs to God, and only the Spirit can move in the person's heart to convince him or her about the need for a Saviour.

SAY: The goal is to proclaim the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is not just about building relationships; it is building relationships to the point where spiritual conversations can take place and you can bring the gospel to them.

In short, being missional is to be intentional in building relationships with people around you - where you live, work and play - so that gospel conversations can take place!
