

God delights when His people gather together in spiritual fellowship. Christian fellowship – deep and spiritual friendships with God's people – is such an important part of the healthy Christian life. Whether single or married, Christians need encouragement and fellowship.

My wife Christine and I have had the privilege of being in our Care Group (CG) since 2014. In our CG, we've been encouraged by long-time and younger Christians. We've had CG members go through various trials (yes, literally we've had more than one of us almost die and come back to life) in all seasons of life, walking and praying for each other, as well as seeing God's faithfulness displayed in their lives. As a CG, we have also had the opportunity to love and serve God together, sharpen each other, and grow together in Christ. When we are discouraged and down, the CG has also been a place of encouragement where Christians come around to be Christ's arms and legs to offer love and support.

Is the fellowship full-orbed and mature? Not always, but we sincerely aim to grow deeper in true Christian fellowship and not just have an 'orange juice' or 'coffee' fellowship with each other where we only go skin deep on spiritual matters.

Is the CG perfect? No. After all, it's made up of sinners saved by grace.

Relationships and deep Christian fellowship take effort and time but they are a precious blessing God has given to us. Let us not neglect true Christian fellowship, and go beyond superficialities. The CG is a great place to start to get plugged into Christian community, if you are looking to have fellowship with other Christians.

Sheep are vulnerable and can fall prey to the wolves when they are not with other sheep. We all need encouragement in our walk with the Lord. God remembers His people when we gather in Christian fellowship. Whether you find this in the CG and/or outside the CG, Christian fellowship is vital to a healthy Christian life. Let's strive to develop deep and meaningful Christian friendships in our lives.
