This Psalm is not just about what God has done,
but who will know what God has done.

LEADING GENERATIONS

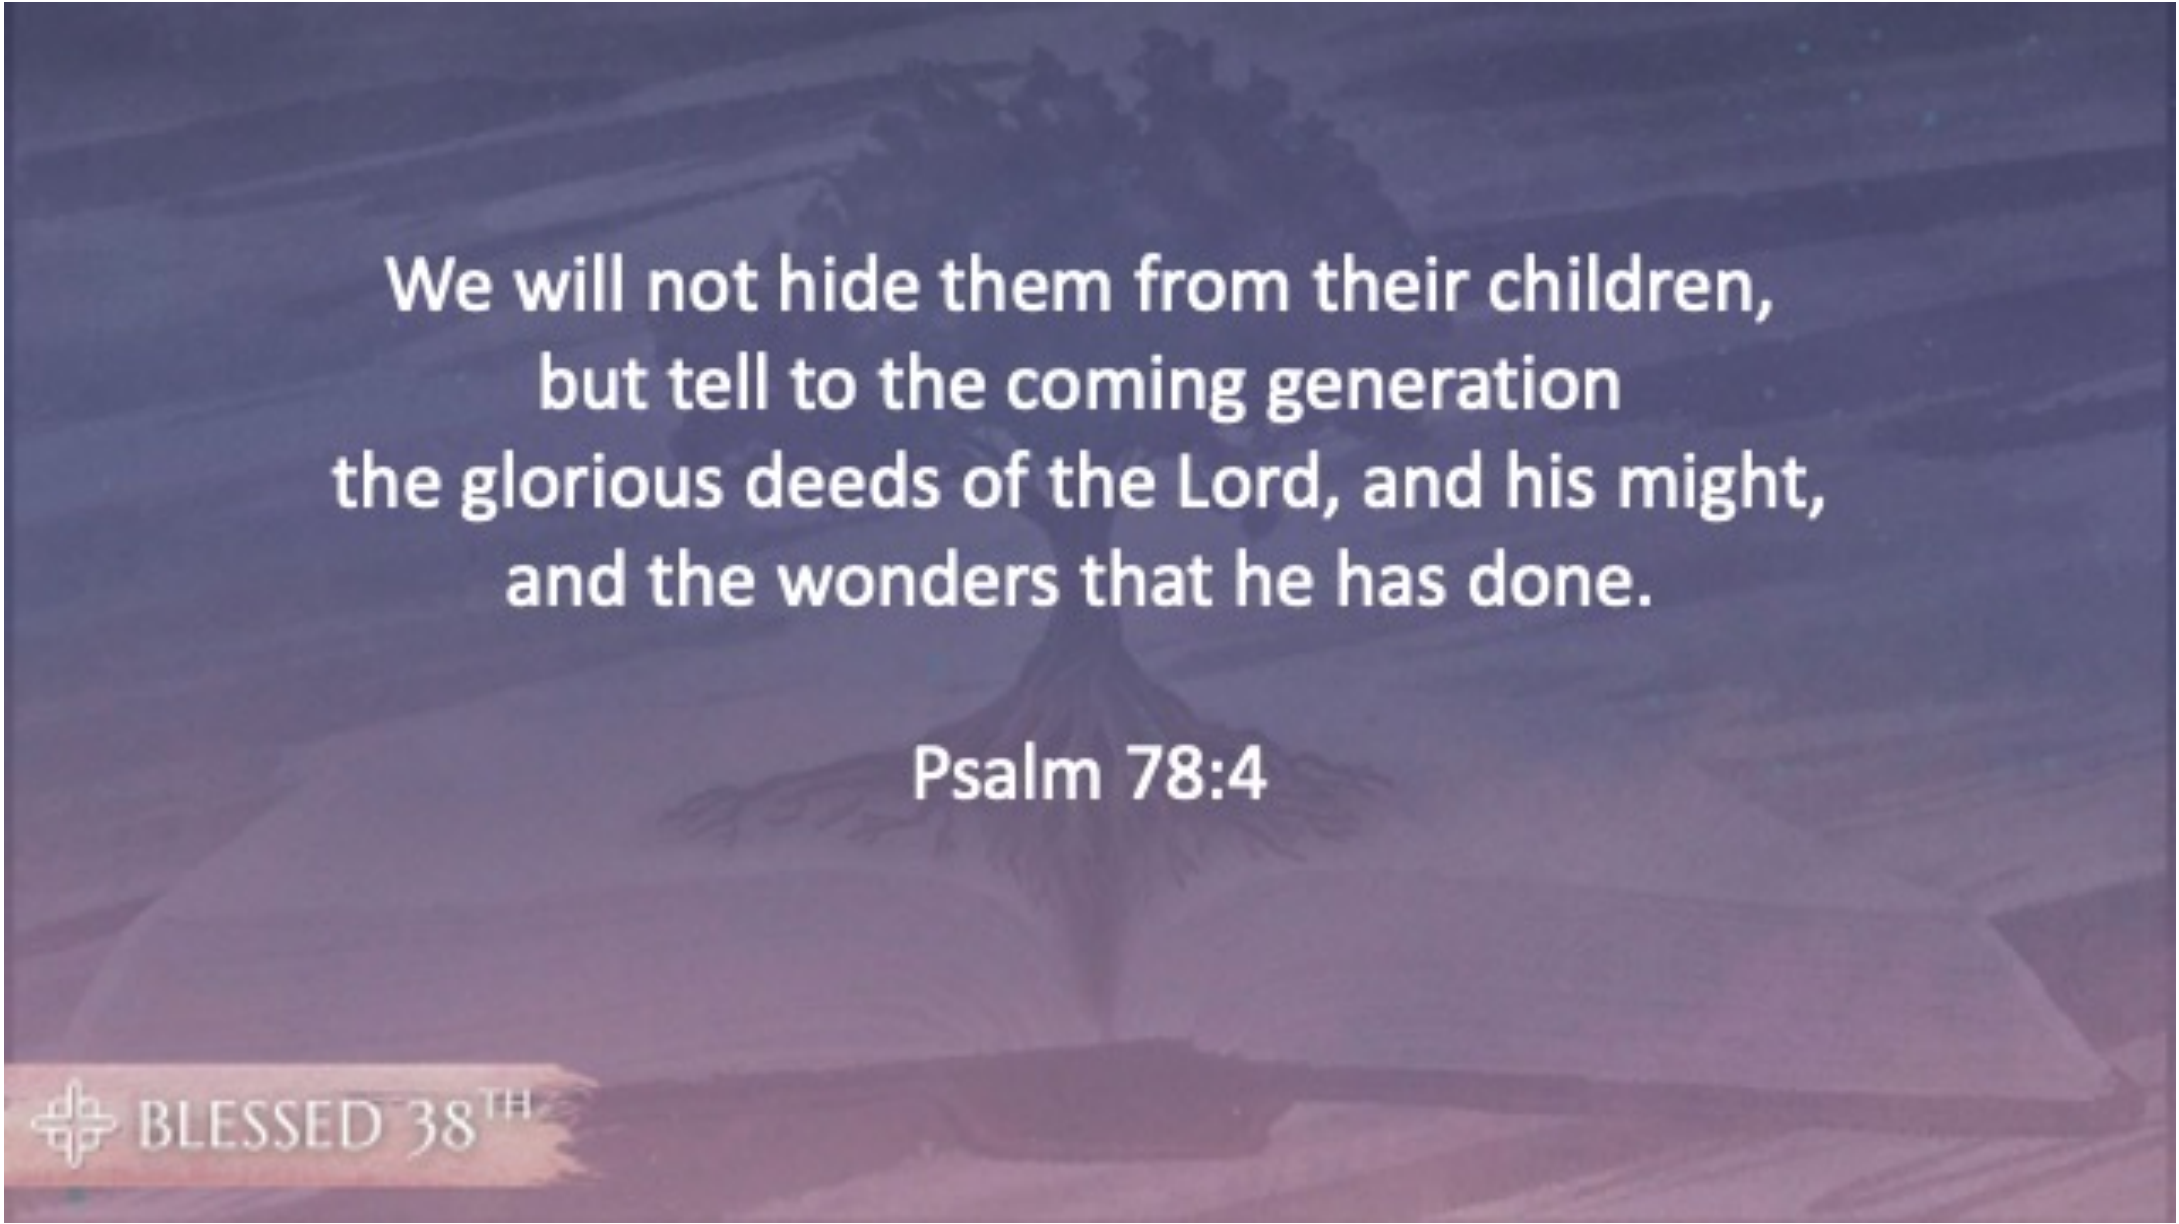

Give ear, O my people, to my teaching;
incline your ears to the words of my mouth!

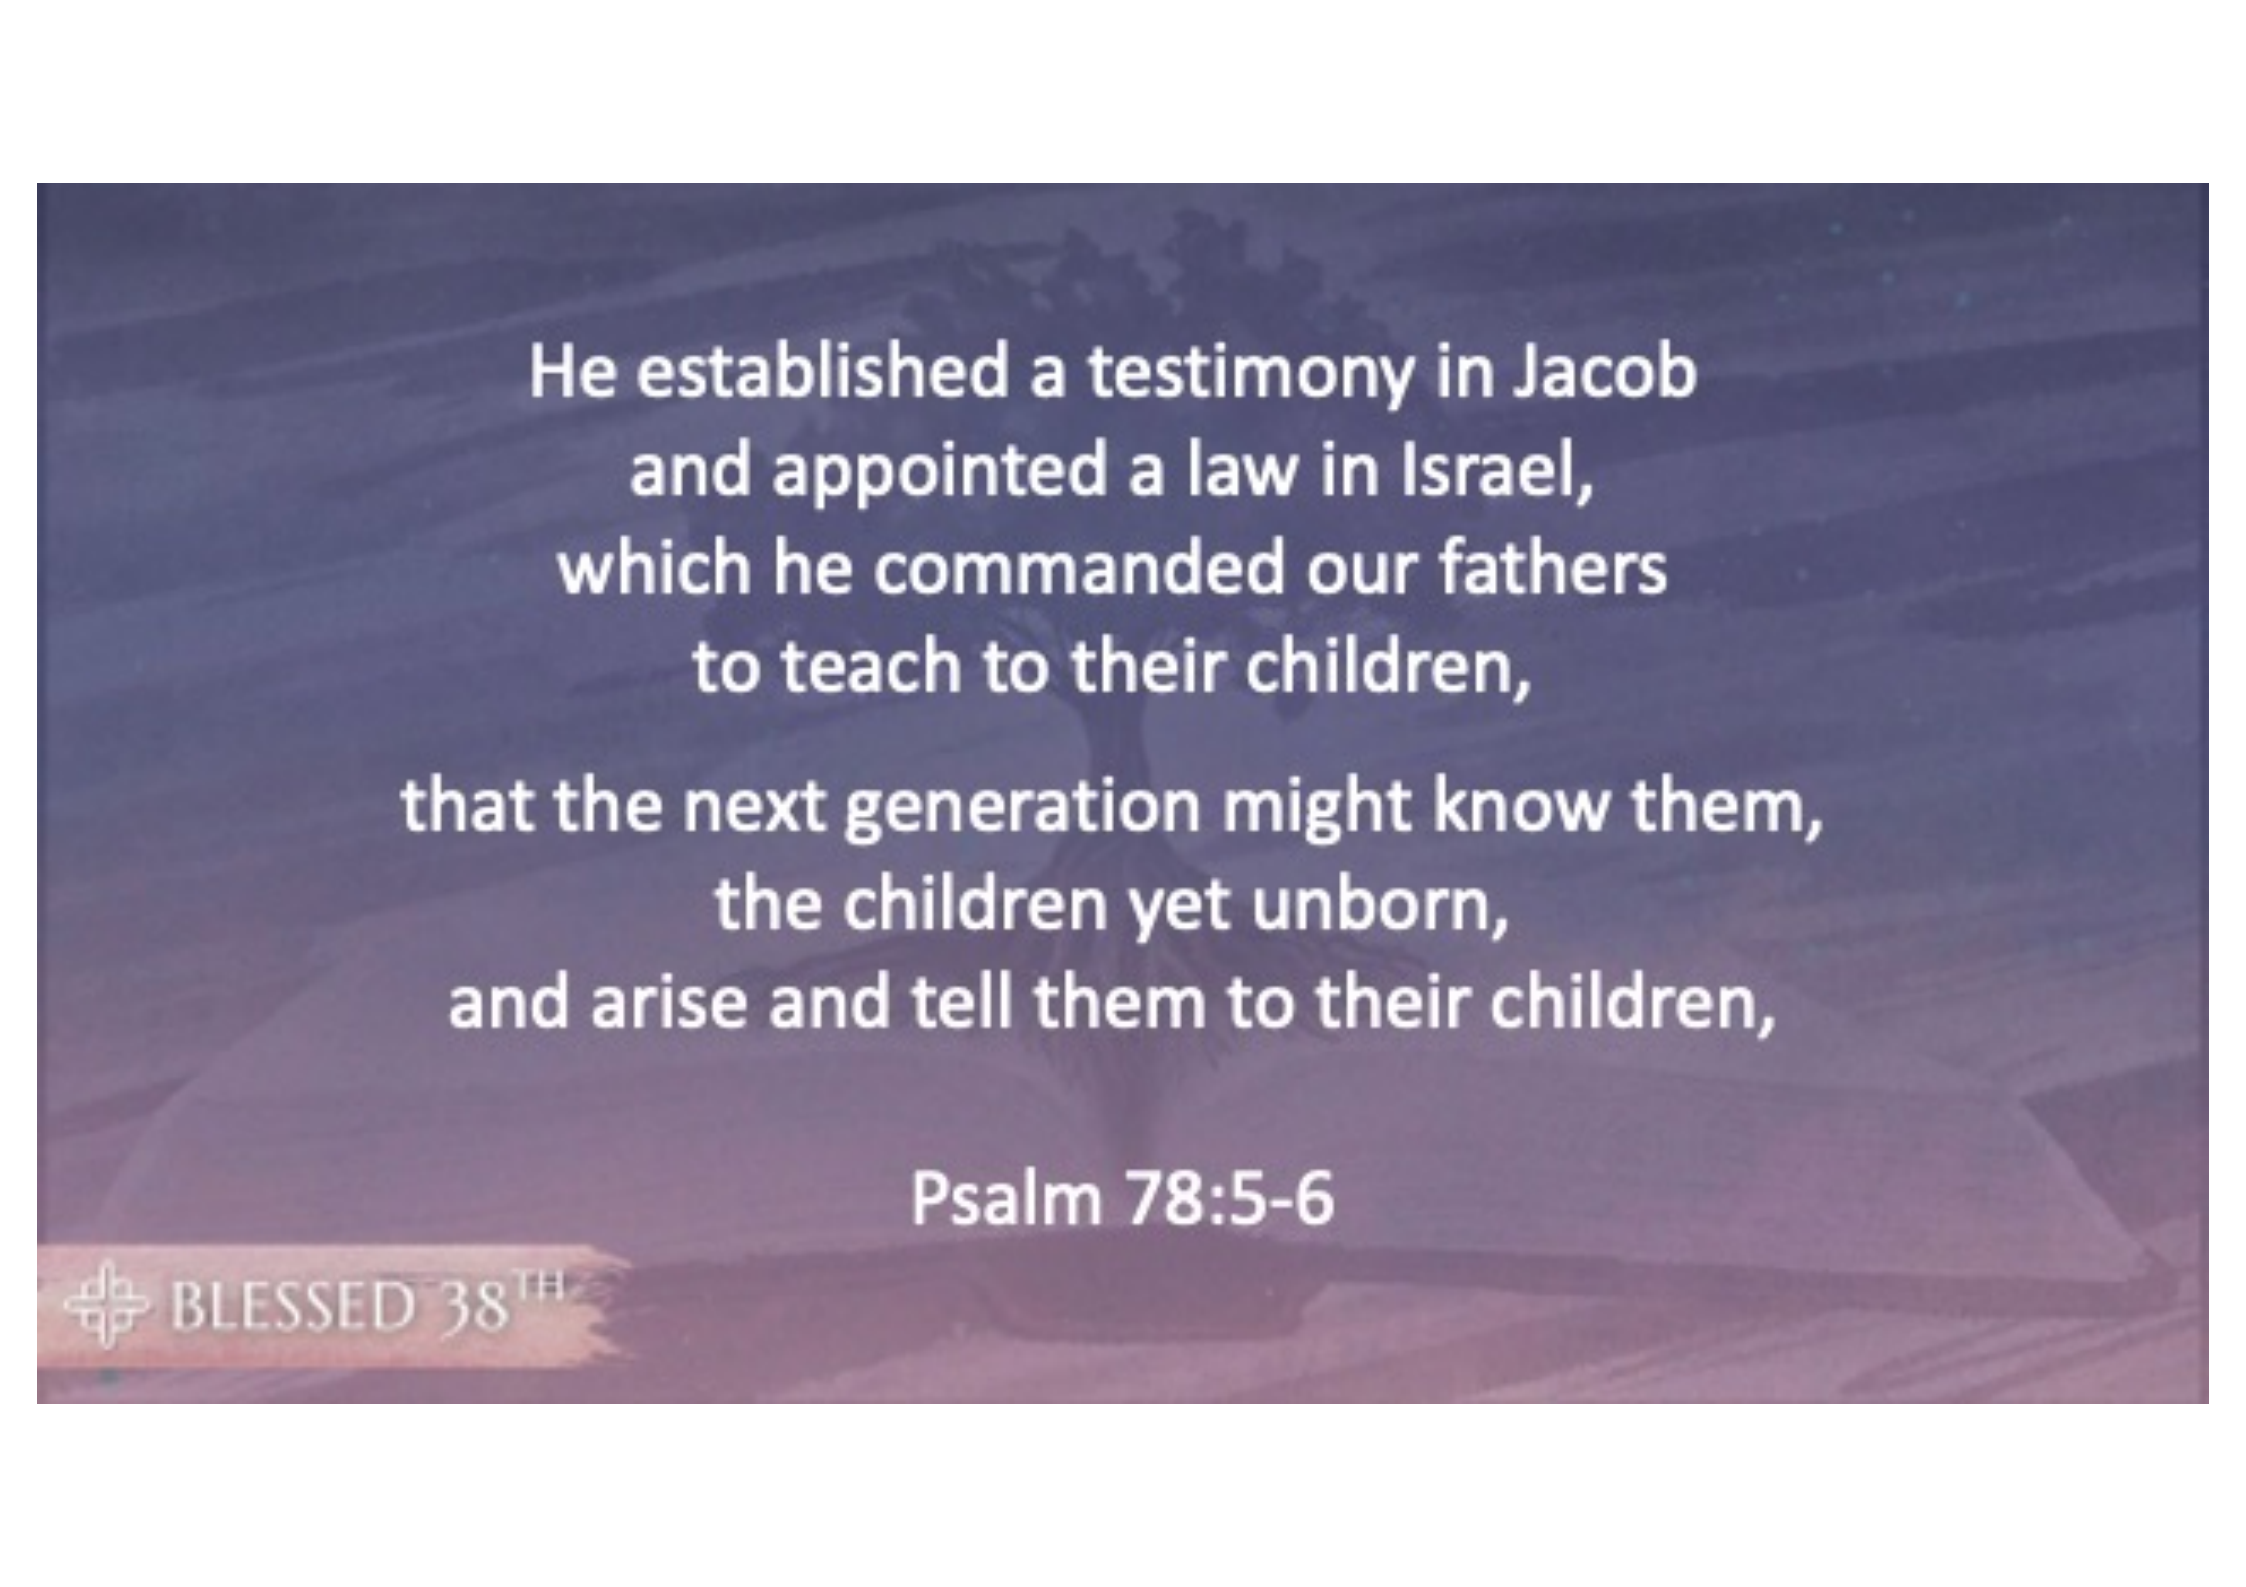

I will open my mouth in a parable;
I will utter dark sayings from of old,
things that we have heard and known,
that our fathers have told us.

Psalm 78:1-3

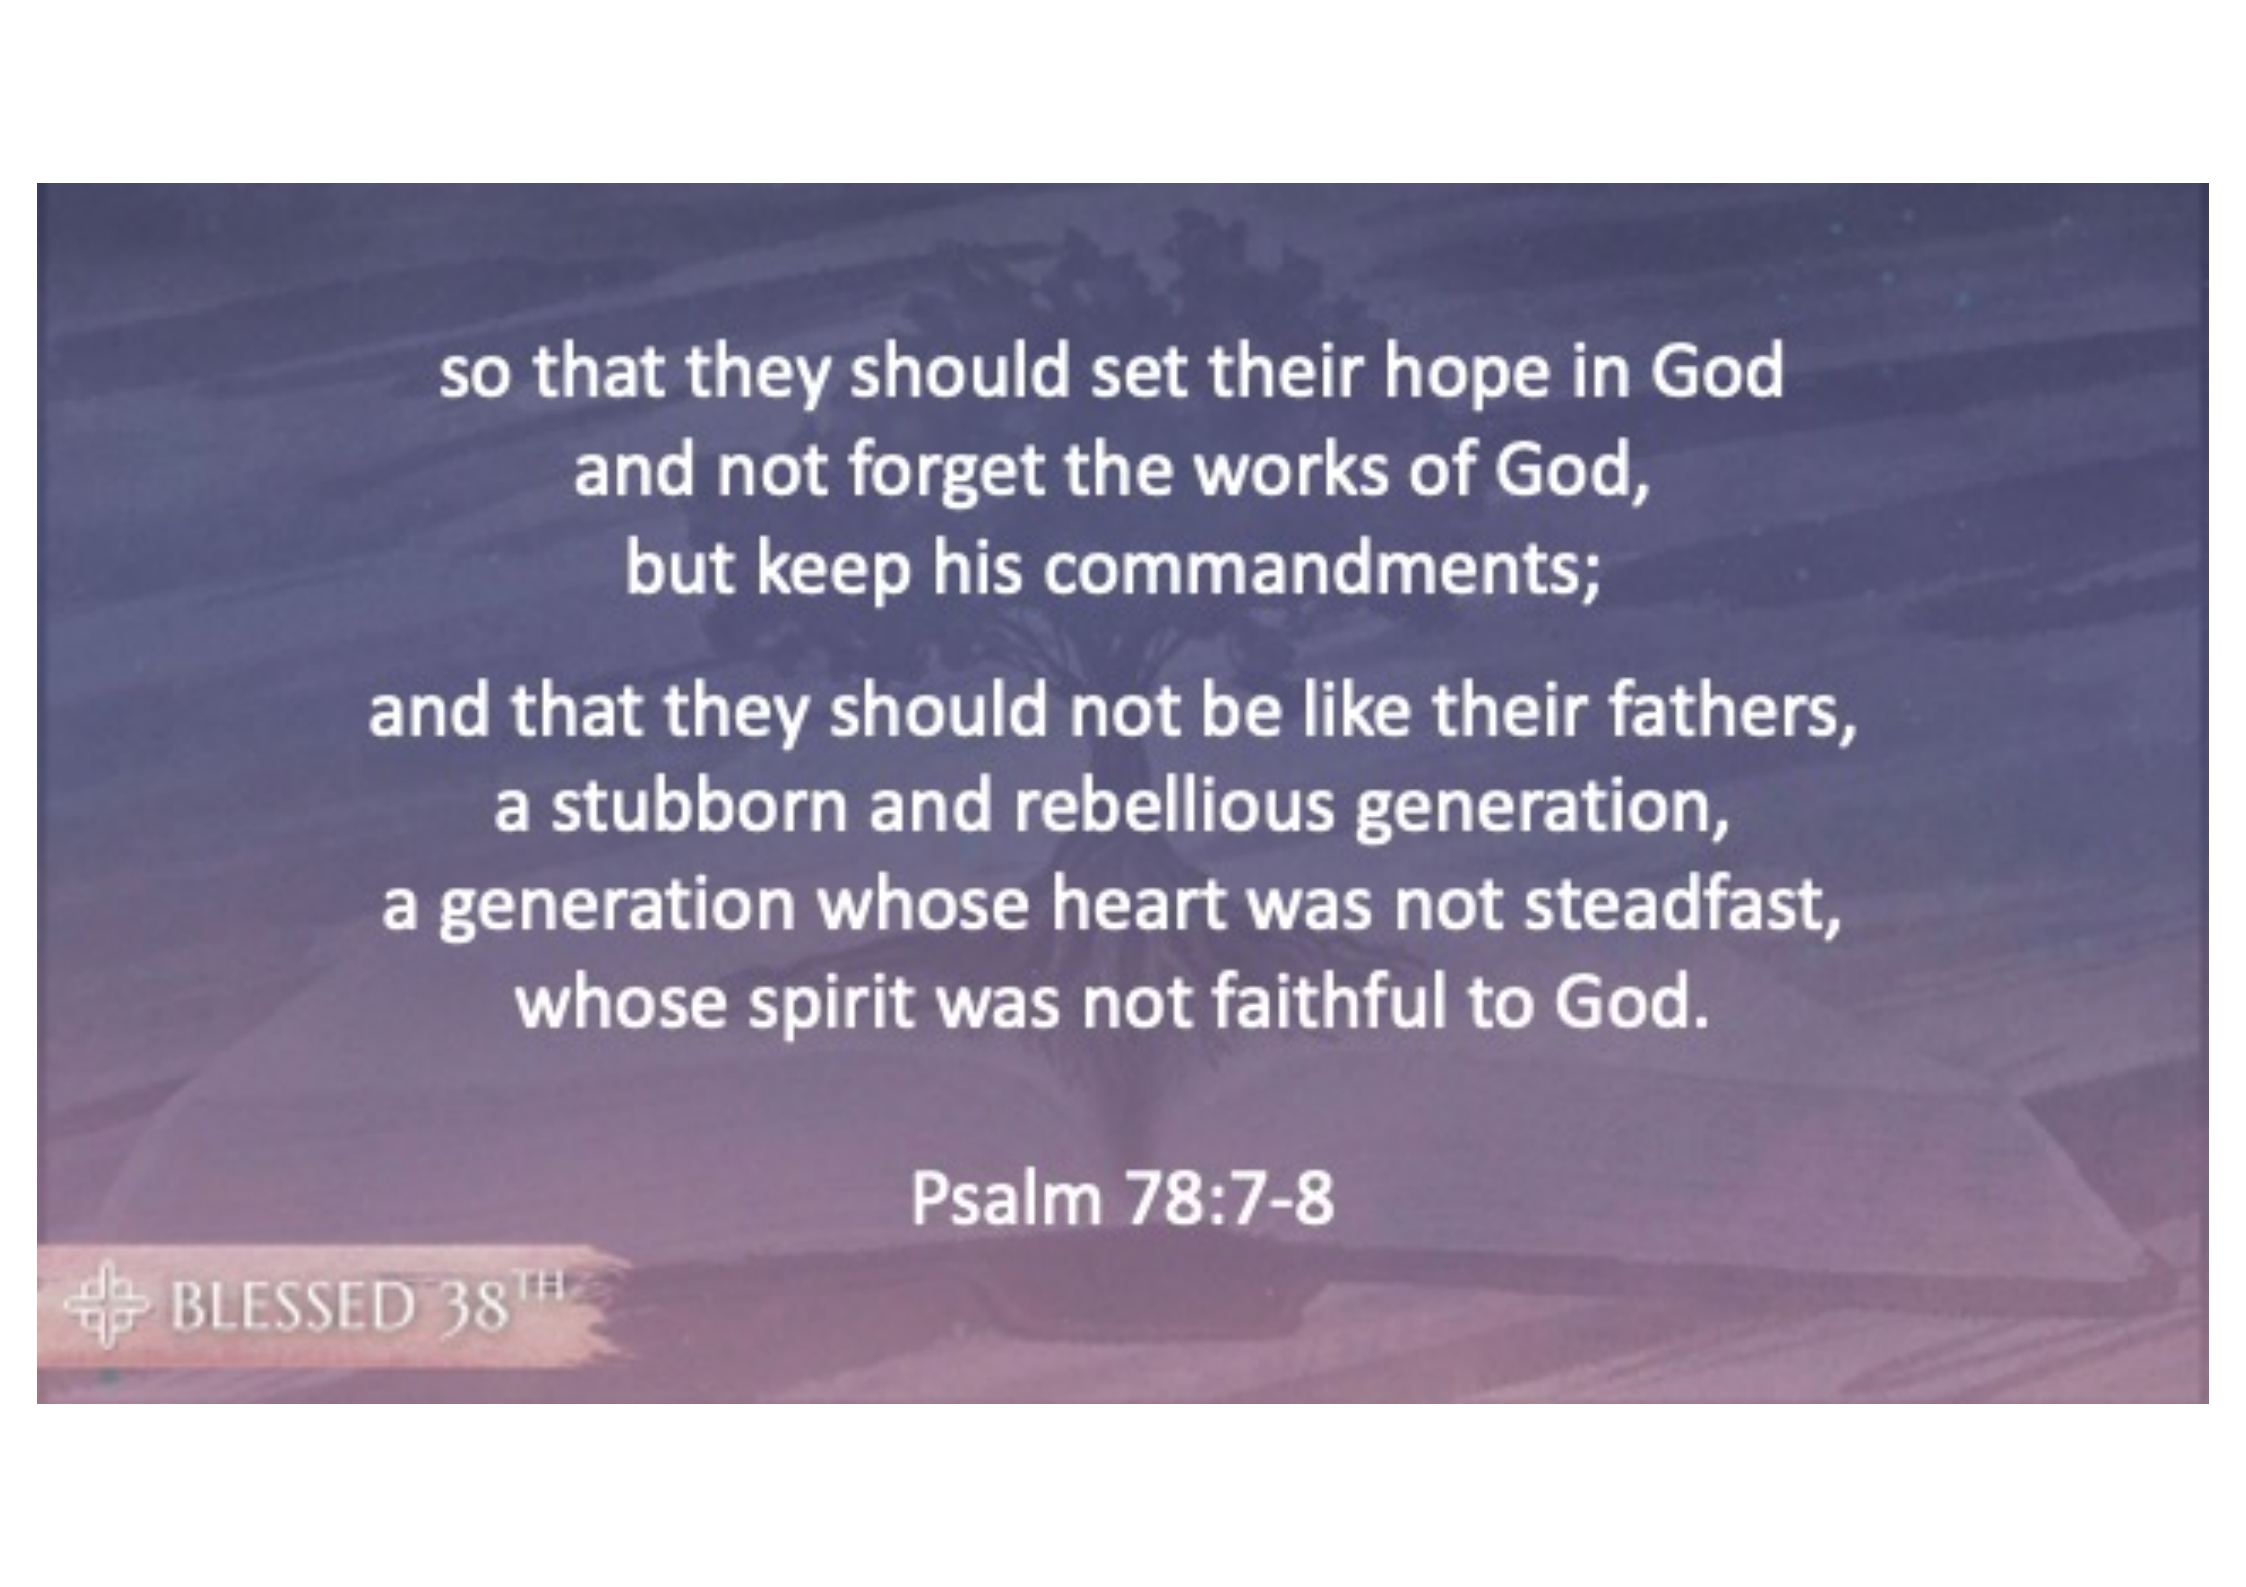

We will not hide them from their children, but tell to the coming generation the glorious deeds of the Lord, and his might,
and the wonders that he has done.

Psalm 78:4

He established a testimony in Jacob and appointed a law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers to teach to their children,
that the next generation might know them,
the children yet unborn,
and arise and tell them to their children,

Psalm 78:5-6

The background of the slide features a soft-focus image of a large, leafy tree standing on a grassy hill. The scene is bathed in a cool, blue-purple light, suggesting either dawn or dusk. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

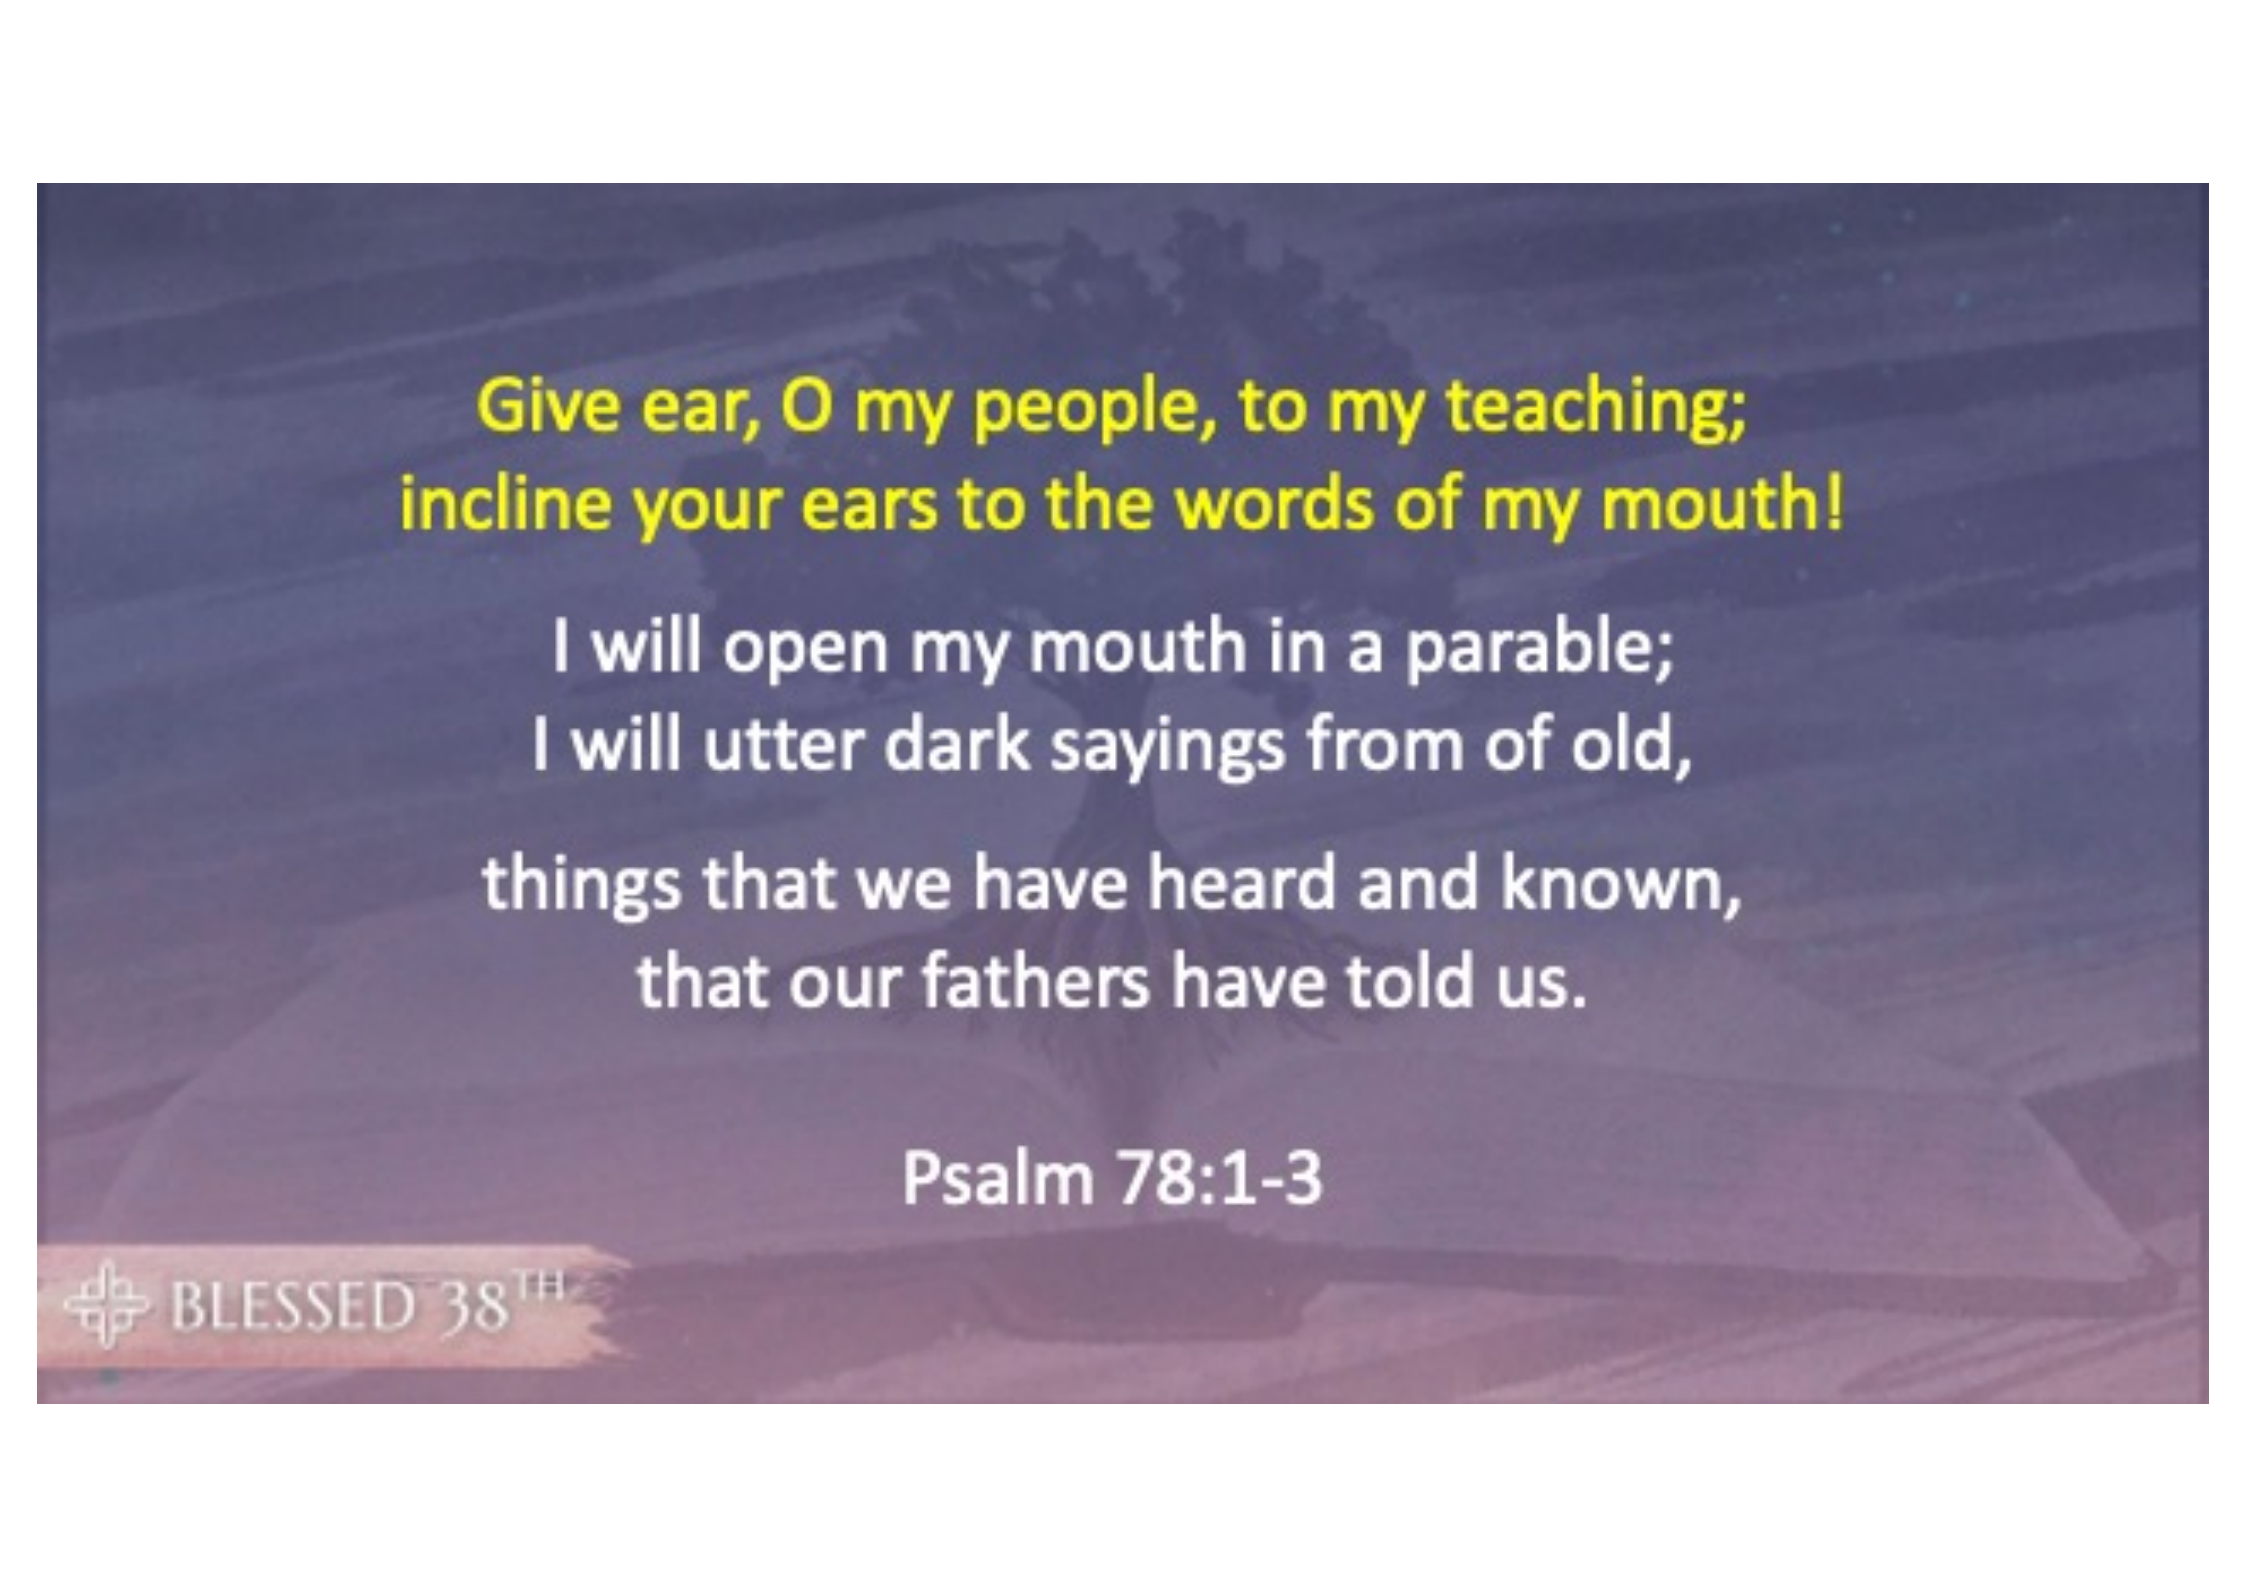

so that they should set their hope in God and not forget the works of God,
but keep his commandments;
and that they should not be like their fathers,
a stubborn and rebellious generation,
a generation whose heart was not steadfast, whose spirit was not faithful to God.

Psalm 78:7-8

don’t repeat the same mistakes.”

“I struggle to believe in Jesus because I don’t see how real God is in my parents’ lives.”

“My parents always ask me to read the Bible, but I never see them reading it themselves.”

“My parents always ask me to pray for meals, but I never hear them pray about anything else.”

“My parents tell me to be connected at church, but they themselves don’t attend a care group.”

He established a testimony in Jacob

that the next generation might know them,

Psalm 78:5-6

The world is already telling the next generation its own stories — stories of self, success, and independence.
If we remain silent, those voices will fill the void.

Another generation
arose after them
who did not know
