INTO A LIFE-CHANGING
RELATIONSHIP WITH JESUS CHRIST.

BEGIN AGAIN: GOD'S SCHOOL AT HOME

Pastor Paul Choo
Founding Pastor

As we step into a new year, many of us make plans for work, school, and family. Scripture invites us to start somewhere even more foundational, the home. When each person embraces God's calling for their role, homes grow healthier, churches grow stronger, and the world is blessed. In God's design, fathers represent the unseen Father, mothers help, and children learn, and truthfully, all of us are called to be learners for life.

Jesus, our model learner

God gave us a perfect role model: Jesus. The Gospels give only one brief window into His childhood (Luke 2:40–52), yet it's packed with guidance for families. There we see Jesus listening intently, asking questions, growing in wisdom, and crucially, submitting to His parents while keeping the Father's business central. That's a learner's heart: humble, hungry, and obedient.

Parenting philosophies come and go, but God's Word is truth and remains our operating manual for life and family. If we want children who navigate a fast-changing world, we must teach them to learn from Scripture and from people who are shaped by it.

The “when,” “who,” and “how” of learning

- When: God has wired seasons, especially the threshold to adolescence, where independence awakens. Don’t fight it; direct it. Channel growing independence into independent learning and discovery of God-given gifts.
- Who: Put your child where wise voices are accessible: first in the home God assigned. Parents, you are the faculty of the most important school your child will ever attend.
- How: Teach two simple habits: listen well and ask good questions. Listening isn’t passive hearing; it’s engaging the mind to receive truth. Questions draw wisdom out. These two practices make the whole world a classroom under God.

Proverbs urges children to heed a father's instruction and not forsake a mother's teaching. Not because every parental request is perfect, but because learning itself begins with humility and responsive hearts. Let's cultivate that posture in our homes.

A pastoral word for 2026

Friend, you're not in the wrong house or the wrong season. God has placed you in a story, a family, and a church so that you might grow in wisdom and favour with God and people just as Jesus did. This year, let's return to the simple path: receive the Word, listen with humility, ask faithful questions, and obey in love. In God's hands, ordinary homes become holy classrooms and ordinary learners become godly children who bless the world.

EXPLORE THE FAITH

A man is sitting on a low, dark bench in a dimly lit room. He is holding an open book and looking down at it. A bright, golden light source, possibly a sun or a large lamp, is visible through a large, arched opening in the wall behind him. The light creates a strong, warm beam that illuminates the man and the book. The overall atmosphere is contemplative and spiritual.
