INTO A LIFE-CHANGING
RELATIONSHIP WITH JESUS CHRIST.

Faith That Finishes

Article by Jason Lim
Senior Pastor

The Christian life is not merely about starting well. It is about finishing well. That is the burden of Hebrews 12:1–4. Just as the tortoise won the race not by speed at the start but by perseverance to the end, so the believer is called not simply to begin with enthusiasm, but to endure in faith until the finish line.

This concern runs throughout Hebrews. The writer warns believers not to drift away, not to fall away through unbelief, and not to give up when the road becomes difficult. The call is clear:

“run with endurance the race that is set before us.” The Christian life is not a sprint; it is a marathon. It requires steadfastness over a lifetime.

Every Number Represents a Person

That means we must resist the temptation to measure faithfulness by the past. Some remember a season when they were fervent in serving Christ, but have since slowed down. Others may feel they have already done enough and can now relax while others carry on. But Hebrews reminds us that each believer has a race still to run. As long as God has not called us home, we are not to stop at the sidelines. We are to keep running.

“The Christian life calls for diligence in prayer,
in the Word, in worship, in service,
and in obedience.”

Run With Endurance

To finish well, we must first run with endurance. The Christian race involves effort, discipline, and perseverance. It is not passive. The Christian life calls for diligence in prayer, in the Word, in worship, in service, and in obedience. More than that, endurance means staying under pressure without quitting. Trials, sickness, disappointments, and pain can tempt us to give up. Yet Scripture calls us to remain under these burdens in faith, trusting God as we press on.

Lay Aside What Hinders

Second, we must lay aside every weight and sin. Some hindrances are plainly sinful and must be repented of. But Hebrews also speaks of “every weight” — things that may not be sinful in themselves, yet still slow us down spiritually. Good things can become dangerous things when they dim our hunger for Christ, weaken our prayer life, or distract us from wholehearted devotion. A hobby, a career ambition, a relationship, or even a legitimate responsibility can become a weight if it keeps us from running freely. The issue is not simply whether something is allowed, but whether it helps us pursue Christ more fully.

Remember God's Encouragements

Third, we must remember the encouragements God has given us. We look around and see the “great cloud of witnesses” in Hebrews 11, ordinary believers who endured by faith. Their lives remind us that finishing well is possible by God's grace. We look up to Jesus, the founder and perfecter of our faith and we look forward, just as Christ did, to the joy set before us. The Christian endures because there is an eternal reward, an imperishable crown, and the joy of hearing the Lord say, “Well done, good and faithful servant.”

Finish Well by Fixing Your Eyes on Christ

So the message of Hebrews 12 is both sobering and hopeful. The race is hard, and many things threaten to slow us down. But God calls us to endure, to throw off what hinders, and to keep our eyes fixed on Christ. What matters in the end is not merely that we once ran well, but that we are still running today — and that, by His grace, we finish well.

Join us on Day 2 of KBC2026 as we explore what it means to raise children not merely to behave well, but to know, love and follow Jesus. We'll also consider how ordinary moments can become

WOMEN'S MINISTRY EVENT

When Grace Meets Hurt explores how God meets us in the painful places we often carry quietly—wounds from words, disappointments, strained relationships and scars that affect our joy, worship and walk with Him.

This September, join us for a thoughtful, hope-filled conversation on how Scripture speaks to healing and freedom. We do not minimise our hurts; we bring them to God, whose grace is greater than our deepest wounds and able to lead us toward peace and renewed hope together.
